ADDITIONAL EDUCATION PRODUCTS

Workers Compensation Program

Wright Specialty has partnered with a strong national carrier to offer competitive workers' compensation coverage to the education segment. Wright's industry expertise, coupled with a specialty workers' compensation approach, provides a unique and competitive product offering for brokers and insureds.

Student Accident Program

From the blackboard to the ball field, Wright Specialty Insurance is partnering with Health Special Risk to offer a broad range of accident products for K-12 schools. We don't believe that "one size fits all." Each school is unique, and we design programs to deliver the right coverage for your school.

Global Foreign

WSI's Education Program offers an integrated foreign package product to education clients. Most educational institutions (public and private) have employees and students traveling abroad for short term educational trips or study abroad programs. While abroad, they are faced with unique exposures that can range from lost documents to medical emergencies, or even emergency political repatriation. With unique forms designed for educational risks, WSI is offering a foreign package policy that provides broad coverage.

Special Event

When facilities are rented to outside groups, claims from potential damages and liability from their activities could result. If they have the right insurance protection to cover their activities and name the school as an additional insured, the school has the right protection as well. By directing facility renters to Wright Specialty's convenient and affordable event insurance, you gain the peace of mind that comes with reliable insurance. Don't let insurance be a deterrent for small organizations that want to rent your clients space, and don't let renters with inadequate insurance jeopardize your client's financial well-being.

Employment Liability Hotline for Our Education Clients

(866) 758-6874

The Hotline is available Monday – Friday from 8:30 am to 6:00 pm Eastern time

What is it?

To assist Insureds who purchase Educators' Legal Liability insurance (which contains Employment Liability coverage), Wright Specialty has developed a cost-free Employment Liability Hotline to provide answers to everyday employment-related issues. Wright Specialty developed this program in conjunction with Jackson Lewis LLP, a national law firm with 61 offices and over 950 attorneys across the United States. For over 55 years, Jackson Lewis has assisted employers to develop preventive programs and to defend workplace law claims. Jackson Lewis represents employers in all aspects of workplace law, including employment litigation, disability and leave management, reductions in force, affirmative action, benefits, immigration, wage-hour, trade secrets and restrictive covenants, drug testing and labor relations. The firm maintains a website providing comprehensive information about these and other workplace law topics.

What can I use this service for?

The Hotline is for general legal overview. It is not intended to provide a determinative answer as to whether a specific adverse personnel action should be taken. Before a decision is made as to whether to discharge an employee, deny reinstatement after a leave of absence, take any action after receiving a complaint of harassment, or taking any other employment action, you should consult with experienced employment counsel and examine all aspects of that particular situation. The Risk Management Hotline is a very useful tool to obtain information about federal laws and how they might apply to different employment-related situations. It can also be used as a way of inquiring about appropriate steps to take when investigating complaints or reports of harassment, discrimination or retaliation.

The Hotline is a good tool to conduct an analysis of the factors to consider when evaluating possible claims relating to denials of promotion, salary increases or requests for training.

How do I use it?

To verify that callers are insured by Wright Specialty, a caller must provide his or her name, the name of the policyholder and the policy number, as well as the caller's e-mail address, mailing address and telephone number. After obtaining this information, a representative of Jackson Lewis, who will be providing this Hotline, will ask the caller succinctly to state the question and to provide a brief description of the facts which relate to the question. Callers can leave a voice mail message and will receive a response within one business day of the call.

Can I report claims and lawsuits?

No. The Hotline is a resource for general overview about human resources and employment issues. Please do not use the Hotline to ask questions about coverage or matters beyond the hotline, such as "Can I fire Sally?" or "If I fire Jim, does my policy cover an age discrimination claim?" It is not to be used to report the filing of administrative charges, arbitration demand letters, and service of lawsuits or other notices of claim. Providing such information to Hotline attorneys does not obligate them to provide notice on your behalf to Wright Specialty. It is your responsibility to notify Wright Specialty in accordance with the terms of the employment practices liability insurance policy. If you have any questions about how to report a claim, you should contact your insurance broker or representative.

Paul J. Siegel, Esq., a partner with Jackson Lewis since 1985, will oversee management of the hotline. You should contact Mr. Siegel if you have any questions about the hotline or any concerns about how a question you presented has been addressed. You can reach Mr. Siegel at 631-247-4605 or at siegelp@jacksonlewis.com. If Mr. Siegel is unavailable, please contact Kathryn Barry, Esq. at 631-247-4612 or kathryn.barry@jacksonlewis.com. If you have technical problems accessing the Hotline, contact your insurance representative or David Bloodgood at Wright Specialty – dbloodgood@wrightinsurance.com.

Crisis Management and Public Relations Expense Coverage.

Our Crisis Management and Public Relations Expense coverage was specifically created for educational institutions. Adding Crisis Management and Public Relations Expense is an effective way to expand coverage to pay for the types of expense schools incur because of a crisis. And we afford this coverage at very low rates! Our coverage is best described in two parts:

1. "Crisis management expenses" incurred by the policyholder for emergency and recovery services related to a "crisis event." "Crisis event" includes a mass attack or any number of other types of events.
2. "Public relations expenses" incurred by the policyholder to restore public confidence in the educational institution because of an "adverse publicity."

Crisis Management Expenses

Our crisis management expense coverage is designed to cover expenses that educational institutions will likely incur within the first hours of a crisis. Good examples of the types of expense we cover include:

- Securing the scene after a mass attack or other act of violence
- Emergency transport of injured persons including airlift services
- Other travel costs to provide relief of affected persons
- Additional security services

And we help our policyholders recover from a crisis by paying for services that extend for the period following the actual crisis. These include:

- Rental of substitute premises after a mass attack or other act of violence as well as for temporary transportation to such premises
- Temporary living expense for affected persons
- Loss of Income for an affected person or a caregiver of an affected person who is seriously injured during a crisis
- Compensation the school must pay to temporary personnel that replace persons who sustain serious bodily injury
- Counseling services
- Funeral expenses

Because no one can really anticipate the exact nature of the services required after a "crisis event", our policy language has been expanded to include any reasonable and necessary expenses that we preapprove.

Our broad definition of a "crisis event" determines when we pay crisis management expense. Again, we significantly broaden our definition of a "crisis event" by adding "includes but is not limited to" language to our coverage. Some of the crisis situations we cover include:

- Hostage taking
- Active assailant
- Assault
- Food contamination
- Drownings
- Major auto accidents
- Major fires

Also consider the coverage provisions we have added that significantly expand the situations in which we pay crisis management expenses:

1. Our coverage responds even if there is an imminent threat of "Bodily Injury", "Property Damage" or "Personal and Advertising Injury" as defined in the CGL.
2. There is no requirement that the crisis must affect two or more persons.
3. It does not matter whether a crisis is man-made, e.g., active assailant, or occurred due to an act of nature, e.g., a flood.
4. The initial act that led to the crisis event does not need to occur during the policy period.
5. Crisis events can be on premises or off premises as long as they arise out of the institution's operations, or its sponsored activities. In fact, our expanded "territory" definition broadens the off premises coverage to include a crisis anywhere in the world if it occurs during the institution's sponsored, or organized and controlled events.

Public Relations Expenses

Because we specialize in education we understand that schools may need assistance with public relations for a variety of reasons. The scope of our coverage is unique in the industry in this regard.

First, it is likely that the schools will experience adverse publicity at some point in the future. Whether the adverse publicity arises out of a "crisis event" or another type of "adverse event" it may be of a nature which materially reduces public confidence in the institution. Our coverage is designed to cover the cost of a public relations firm (or law firm) to help restore public confidence in the school. In addition, we cover the additional communication expenses that may be required.

It's important to note that we also will cover public relations expense before the adverse publicity happens, if the intent to release adverse publicity is known. In addition, the crisis or other adverse event does not need to occur during the policy period as long as the actual adverse publicity itself commences during the policy period.

Wright Specialty Crisis Management and Public Relations Hotline

True to Wright's history of delivering unequalled claims and risk management services, we provide more than just insurance coverage. In the event of a crisis our experts are available 24/7 to assist with management of media and public relations. Simply call the Wright Specialty Crisis Management and Public Relations Hotline at 844-697-9948. Please contact your underwriter for questions regarding this important coverage and claims service.

24-Hour Claim Emergency Hotline

The Wright Specialty Crisis Management and Public Relations Hotline does not replace the 24-hour Claim Emergency Hotline. If you need to report a claim during nonbusiness hours, please call our Claim Emergency Hotline at 800-749-0948. Please keep in mind our Claim Emergency Hotline is solely reserved for our policyholders during nonbusiness hours.

Worldwide Coverage for Educational Pursuits.

Don't leave the country without our Global Package Solution.

If the educational institution answers "yes" to any of these questions, they need Global Solutions:

Most educational institutions (public and private) have employees and students traveling abroad for short term educational trips or study abroad programs. While abroad, they are faced with unique exposures that can range from lost documents to medical emergencies, or even emergency political repatriation. With unique forms designed for educational risks, WSI is offering a foreign package policy that provides broad coverage.

Our highly trained professional staff has the experience in the education sector, a segment which has seen powerful changes over recent years.

Consulting Services

Access to Education Risk Management Professionals

Our risk management specialists are available to answer questions about exposures and to help you manage risk within your institution.

Managing Risk Transfers

A risk transferred is a risk controlled. Our risk management staff can review your standard construction, transportation and facility use insurance requirements and provide suggestions to improve risk transfer.

Employment Liability Policy Review

Employment practices liability (EPL) continues to be a leading liability loss exposure for educational institutions. As a service to our insureds, we can review your institution's anti-harassment and discrimination policies. Insureds can also utilize our EPL Hotline via the WSI website to access legal experts.

Loss Analysis

An analysis of an insured's loss history can identify loss trends and uncover hidden loss causes. Our loss analyses can help our insureds fully understand and appreciate true loss costs.

On-Premises Risk Control Assessments

Facility and Operations Assessment

WSI insureds can receive an evaluation of their buildings and facilities, with an emphasis on areas that produce losses: classrooms, sidewalks, athletic and recreational facilities, playgrounds and storage areas. We also interview administrators to assess security, employment liability, and safety management policies and practices. An exit interview is conducted, and practical recommendations are submitted to mitigate identified risks.

Specific Assessments

Security

Our security assessment starts with an interview of administrators and security officers, and a review of security-related incidents to identify trends and vulnerabilities. Our risk control specialists will then evaluate building and site security, use of security staff and entry points to optimize risk awareness and provide recommendations to mitigate the risk.

Playgrounds

Playgrounds need careful inspection, ongoing maintenance, and trained supervision. Let our specialists work with your staff to provide improvement suggestions. As playgrounds continue to evolve, so does the risk.

Athletic and Recreational Facilities

Wright Specialty's risk control specialists will evaluate ball fields, gymnasiums, fitness centers, weight rooms, bleachers, basketball and tennis courts and other sports-related facilities to identify problem areas and to improve student and visitor safety.

What is AmCares®?

AmCares® is a 24/7 nurse line available to injured employees where nurses use nationally recognized triage guidelines to identify the appropriate level of care for an injured employee's injury:

- Self-care
- Telemedicine
- Occupational Clinic
- Urgent Care
- Emergency Room

Nurses speak both English and Spanish, other languages available as needed.

With AmCares®, AmTrust customers can now opt in to nurse triage as part of their claims program. The setup process for the program takes about two weeks. A customer must enroll in the program by providing AmTrust with their locations and preferred providers ensuring that when an injured employee calls in, the triage nurses send the employee to the customer's preferred providers. If the customer doesn't have preferred providers, the nurse can utilize AmTrust's network channeling site to identify the best in-network provider.

AmCares® is seamlessly incorporated into our claims medical management process. Following nurse triage, our predictive model utilizes claim notes, medical treatment information and third-party data to identify claims that have a high potential to medically decompensate and then assign a case management nurse for early intervention. Our nurses proactively partner with the injured employee to set claim expectations and provide medical information and support throughout recovery. Our nurses facilitate and coordinate quality and effective care for our injured employees to ensure a medically appropriate return to work.

Benefits for AmCares® include:

- Decreased medical cost
- Decreased indemnity days
- Increased network penetration
- Emergency room avoidance
- Decreased attorney representation
- Decreased lag time
- Less need for case management as claim develops

Nurse Triage Process

- The injury occurs on the job site
- If non-life-threatening, the supervisor and/or the employee calls the Nurse Triage # 1-833-385-1317
- Provide your company name and location where the employee works
- A Registered Nurse (RN) assesses the injury and identifies the level of care needed
- The RN educates the employee on self-care treatment or if needed, directs the employee to the most appropriate level of care provider
- The call may be transferred to a Care Coordinator who will obtain the caller's demographic information and assist with provider referral
- The Point of Injury (POI) Report will be sent within 30 minutes to the predesignated contacts and the insurance company for First Notice of Loss (FNOL)
- Follow-up phone calls are made for all self-care cases
- Service includes triage, FNOL, a follow-up call for self-care, and point of care reports for the carrier and employer
- Claims resulting in the filing of a First Notice of Loss with AmTrust will incur a medical charge
- The process is seamlessly incorporated as part of AmTrust medical management capabilities
- One phone call addresses nurse triage and FNOL
