Frequently Asked Questions

How do customers set up the OBD device?

GEICO will ship the OBD device(s) to your customers, along with installation instructions. Once installed, the OBD device(s) will connect with our services and begin to monitor driving.

- The device(s) must be installed as outlined in the installation guide.
- The OBD installation guide is also available online at geico.com.
- Heavy trucks and some vehicles manufactured before 1996 may require an adapter, which is included in the packaging.

Is the data shared?

The OBD device monitors vehicle data, such as GPS location, engine status, driving behaviors, and other details. This data will allow your customers to track vehicle location and status in our DriveEasy Pro Fleet Dashboard.

The OBD device does not record any video or audio. GEICO will never share or sell your customer's data to third parties.

How much does the OBD device cost?

There is no additional cost for the OBD or to participate in the program. If the policy is cancelled or the customer unenrolls, they are required to return the OBD device, free of shipping costs.

Cost-saving tips & important program details

Enroll to save

Savings is dependent on OBD device installation and participation from all qualifying vehicles on the policy.

Easy returns

Returning equipment is required and free if a policy is cancelled, a vehicle is removed, or the customer unenrolls. We'll provide simple instructions. Charges may apply if the device isn't returned.

Confirm shipping

Be sure to confirm the customer's shipping address, as fees may apply if equipment is lost.
