

Know the People Who Know Workers' Comp[®]

Empowering P&C insurance agents to fuel their workers' comp business.

"In the workers' comp marketplace, we've found that Summit has the best products, engagement, agent training, compensation, and incentives—they are leading the pack. Summit has competitors, but those competitors are second tier."

Independent insurance agents are the lifeblood of Summit. Since 1977, we've worked with and through agents like you to provide exceptional workers' comp coverage and services to employers. The defining difference you'll find with Summit is the value we place on our relationship with you.

Why should your clients choose Summit?

Comprehensive in-house expertise focused 100% on workers' comp.

Summit delivers nearly all of our services in-house, ensuring total accountability from every department. From underwriting to claims, audits to safety, your clients benefit from a smooth and seamless experience that reflects positively on your agency.

Summit's in-house model means your clients get consistent, top-tier service from people who know workers' comp inside and out.

- Teams of career specialists in underwriting, claims, safety, and audits
- Consistent points of contact and collaborative service across departments
- Local field staff across our entire service area
- Greater data security and fewer service disruptions compared to outsourcing

Customized loss prevention

“Summit’s safety expertise has had a swift impact.”

Greg Lane

Insurance Management group

Our in-house safety consultants help your clients reduce risk and lower long-term costs.

- A dedicated loss prevention consultant
- Assistance with safety and drug-free workplace programs
- Professional safety assessments available as needed
- Industry-specific safety training, OSHA 10-hour classes, and educational safety videos

Real, responsive customer care

“We’re committed to creating an extraordinarily positive experience for agents, policyholders, and injured employees.”

Cindy Santana

Summit Customer Care Director

Our customer care team is comprised of in-house, U.S.-based Summit employees—never AI bots or third-party call centers.

- Proficient professionals trained on the full spectrum of workers’ comp, who resolve issues quickly and accurately
- Bilingual support for Spanish-speaking clients
- No AI, no scripts—just real conversations that get results

Painless premium audits

“Consistency in audits builds trust with Summit and your agency.”

Eric Jones, Assistant Vice President

Premium Audit

We simplify the audit process with consistency and expertise that third-party providers can’t match.

- The same dedicated auditor, year after year, whenever possible
- More than 90 percent of audits handled by Summit’s in-house team
- Audit preparation services and classification review
- Fraud prevention expertise to protect your clients

Misty Samples

Director of Loss Prevention and Premium Audit
Summit’s Southeast Region

At Summit, safety isn’t a checklist—it’s a commitment. Our in-house team of local safety consultants work with businesses to build tailored programs that not only reduce costs but also show employees their well-being is a priority. Because when safety is personal, results follow.

Compassionate and precise claims management driven by experience

With nearly 50 years of workers' compensation experience, we've built a proactive in-house claims system that delivers. Our compassionate adjusters make timely, informed decisions—handling every claim with care. The result? Cost-effective outcomes, top-tier medical care, and 30%* fewer open claims than the industry 18 months post-accident—helping employees recover faster while keeping expenses in check.

Summit Claims and Medical Management

At Summit, we don’t see a tradeoff between quality care and cost control. We see a responsibility to deliver both. Our in-house claims team works one-on-one with injured employees to guide recovery, reduce downtime, and protect the bottom line. It’s not just about managing claims—it’s about earning trust, one outcome at a time.

Summit's team makes every facet of workers' comp easy for us. The value we receive is off the charts. It's our greatest agency relationship, by far, with any insurance carrier.
