WEATHER ZONES

Weather Zone*
1W
1E
2
3
4
5
5C

Every on wind, hail and named-storm county is assigned to one of six weather zones (1W–5C) based exposure.

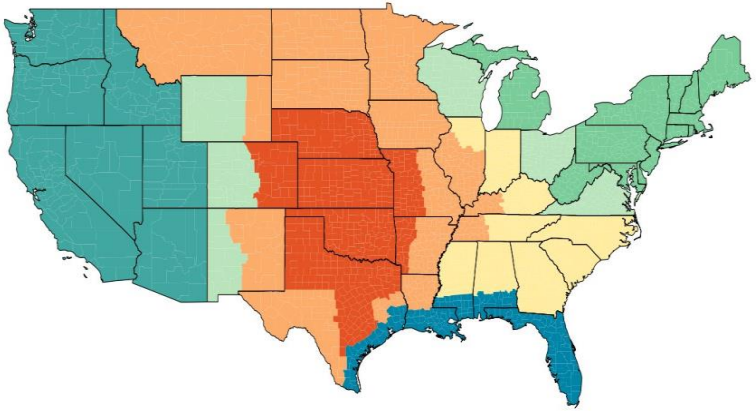

How zones are used

- Drives wind/hail deductible and minimum
- Sets capacity and line size by territory
- Zones 5 / 5C: highest modeled severity
- Zones 1W / 1E: lowest modeled severity
- Tier 1 (Atlantic/Gulf coastal counties, all of FL and HI): wind/hail excluded — AOP only

Zone definitions are stable and monitored against current catastrophe models; reach out to your UW to see the zone schedule for county-level detail.*

Where Wind/Hail Is Excluded — Tier 1 Territory

APPENDIX

Tier 1 = wind/hail excluded — AOP only.

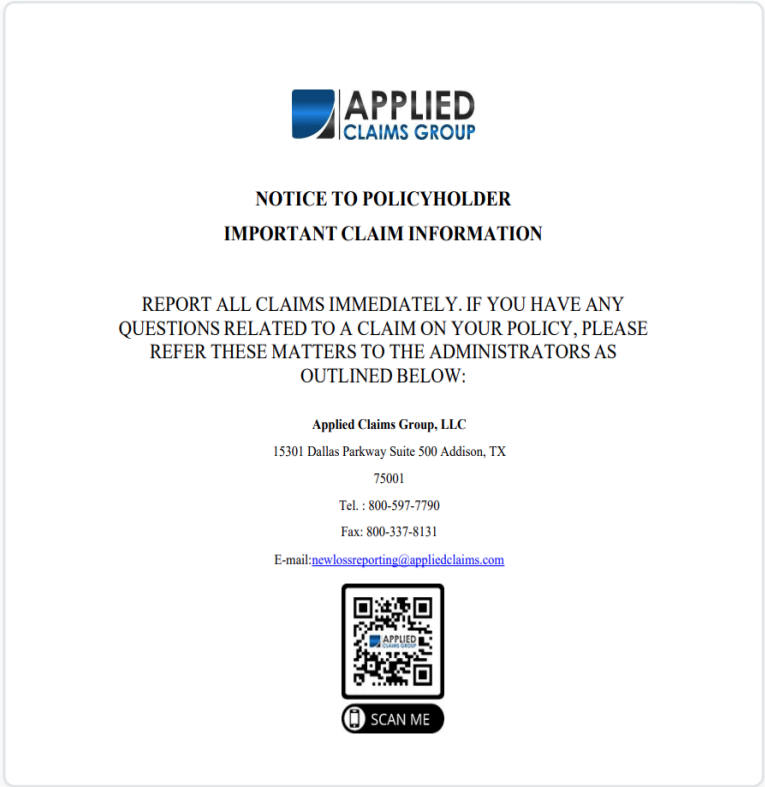

Rule of thumb: if county touches the Atlantic or Gulf = Tier 1, plus all of FL and HI. Confirm with your UW.

3. Limited Fire Exclusion
   I also understand that the Policy does not cover loss or damage arising from fire caused by a Federal Pacific Electric Stab-Lok, Zinsco, or Challenger electrical breaker or panel, or by aluminum wiring which has not been remediated by pig-tailing, COPALUM connectors, or installing Co/ALR switches and receptacles. I also understand that smoke detectors must be affixed to interior ceilings or walls of apartment units and in common areas of the buildings at the insured location.
